"Tessuto" is the Italian word for "texture." This texture features an elegant design that mimics the delicate weave of a soft mesh.

The first 4 decors in the Tessuto range take a contemporary, minimal approach, focusing less on printed design and more on the surface itself, adding depth without distraction.

The Giada texture captures the raw elegance of natural stone, reimagined through the lens of Italian design. Inspired by sun-warmed stone streets and the architectural richness of southern Italy, Giada brings a tactile realism that feels as grounded as it looks.

This texture delivers depth, movement, and natural variation that's rarely seen in MFC. The surface has a soft matt finish with subtle undulations that mimic hand-worked stone.

Inspired by Italy's ancient stone quarries, the Calabianca texture captures the softly worn, aged character of concrete. These surfaces ground a space, they bring calm, strength, and a sense of permanence.

Calabianca offers the look and feel, without the hassle, the expense and the difficulty that comes with working with real concrete.

A refined, tactile finish that gives designers the architectural depth they love, in a way that's practical and ready to use.

The Dea texture embraces dramatic surfaces that celebrate the imperfections. Carbon Fumo and Carbon Bianco, have a unique scorched timber effect, bringing a deep, tactile grain that looks charred yet refined.

As for the Celticos, the Dea texture enhances the flames and figure in the wood, revealing a richness and variation that feels almost artistic.

The Sagade texture is inspired by traditional Italian woodworking, where tools, grain, and craftsmanship leave their mark.

It recreates the look of freshly sawn timber with cross-grain patterns, irregular cuts, and a raw, authentic feel that brings real depth to the surface.

Sagade celebrates wood in its most natural, unpolished state. It's not trying to be perfect. It's textured, tactile, and full of character, ideal for designs that want to feel grounded, honest, and beautifully made.

these two decors bring a clean, open-pore finish with soft grain movement and natural warmth. They offer designers a refined alternative to real veneer, easier to work with, more consistent, but still rich in character. Ideal for minimalist spaces or schemes where quiet texture speaks volumes.
